The property

A second-floor maisonette of ex-local-authority construction (1976–1982), recorded at 1,109 sqft (103 sqm), EPC rating C (69). Marketed as four bedrooms and two bathrooms, refurbished to a high standard. Leasehold on a 125-year term from September 2003 (~102 years unexpired; no short-lease adjustment), Council Tax Band B. One sale is recorded: £320,000 on 6 February 2015. The refurbishment is addressed at Valuation.

Basis of assessment

A comparable is a sale matching the subject on property type, floor area, location, building character, recency and arm's-length status. Bedroom count alone is not used; flats sharing a bedroom count vary widely in size, character and value.

Evidence is drawn from flats of 88–118 sqm (the subject is 103 sqm), within 0.5 miles, sold within 24 months to 5 June 2026, sourced from HM Land Registry Price Paid Data, and grouped by building character. The refurbishment is measured with a condition-adjusted valuation for the subject. Price per square metre is shown for reference and is not the primary basis.

Comparable evidence

All sales are HM Land Registry Price Paid records, held live on PropertyData. Each linked transaction below opens the free record for that exact sale — the property, its photographs and full sale detail. Floor areas are from the EPC Register and are indicative.

Market analysis

Regression and trend analysis of SE15 flat sales (n = 663, 24 months, HM Land Registry):

- What drives price. Floor area and time together explain about 33% of sold price; the remaining two-thirds is location, character and condition. This is the evidence for selecting comparables on character and adjusting for the refurbishment, rather than relying on £/sqm or bedroom count. The marginal value of floor area is £4,699/sqm — below the median £/sqm, so larger flats carry a lower rate.
- Direction of the market. Controlling for size, prices are easing about –2.8% per year (median £/sqm –2.0% between the first and second halves of the period). This is consistent with reported SE15 sector movement of –1.9% to –2.6% over the year [housemetric].
- Location tiers (median £/sqm). SE15 4 £8,500 · SE15 3 £7,180 · SE15 2 £6,802 · SE15 5 £6,647 · SE15 6 (subject) £6,188 · SE15 1 £5,104. The subject is in the value end of the district — the basis for excluding higher-tier sectors from the comparable set.

A softening market in which location and condition dominate supports a conservative, below-range guide.

Valuation

Tier A places a flat of the subject's size and character, in average condition, at £505,000–£530,000. A condition-adjusted valuation for the subject, holding size, location and configuration constant, isolates finish quality:

Exhibit 2 — Value by finish quality (condition-adjusted)

BASIS	VALUE
Tier A comparable median (average condition, ~103 sqm)	£505,000–£530,000
Condition-adjusted valuation — average finish	£500,000
Condition-adjusted valuation — high finish	£540,000
Condition-adjusted valuation — very-high finish	£590,000
Price-per-sqm cross-check (£5,435 × 103 sqm)	£560,000

The refurbishment premium is 8–18%. Comparable evidence and the condition-adjusted valuation give an assessed range of £530,000–£590,000, central ~£560,000. Confidence is moderate; see Limitations.

Sale history

HM Land Registry records one sale: £320,000 on 6 February 2015, with the current 125-year lease granted at that date. No later sale is recorded.

Market conditions

PropertyData indices for the SE15 district, 5 June 2026:

INDICATOR	VALUE
Demand classification	Balanced market
Months of inventory	11.1
Mean days on market	338
For sale / sales per month	456 / ~41

A market in balance with an extended selling period.

Live market & competitive positioning

Sold prices establish what the property is worth; the live market shows what it is competing against. The assessed range above rests on completed sales — the only firm evidence of value. The asking prices below signal vendor expectation, not achieved value, and are not used in the assessment. They are set out to position the recommended guide against the homes a buyer can view today.

The table is the live competitive band: three- and four-bedroom flats currently listed across SE15 at £450,000–£775,000 — the realistic field for a refurbished maisonette of this size. Stock above £800,000 belongs to the premium-conversion tier (see Tier B); the two cheapest four-bedroom flats on the market (£325,000 and £375,000) sit at the bottom of the range. Bedroom count alone does not define a comparable (see Basis of assessment): size, condition and location set the price, which is why three-bedroom period conversions here reach £900,000 while four-bedroom ex-authority flats list at a third of that.

Median asking £662,500; average time on the market 158 days. Each listing links to the live portal page — the asking price, photographs, time on the market and the marketing agent, open to verify.

The cost of overpricing. Seven of these twenty listings have sat unsold for 90 days or more. The longest are two units at 227–255 Ilderton Road, asking £712,000 and £719,000, listed for 722 and 806 days; a third in the same development asks £749,000 at 350 days. Nunhead Green has been available 490 days at £674,995, Sternhall Lane 164 days at £750,000, Bellenden Road 113 days at £650,000. Keenly-priced, well-presented stock behaves differently: three listings went up within the last three weeks, and the only property under offer in the band was priced at £575,000. The pattern is consistent — in SE15 an over-ambitious asking price does not win a higher sale, it produces a longer and more expensive one.

Where this property sits. The recommended Offers Over £500,000 is set at the lower end of the live band and £162,500 below its median asking price — deliberately. Anchored to sold evidence (Tier A £445,000–£612,500), it positions the property among the most competitively priced homes of its size and character on the market, to draw multiple viewings and competing offers toward the assessed £545,000–£575,000 target — rather than joining the stalled listings above.

Recommended guide price

Offers Over £500,000, below the assessed range of £530,000–£590,000. With a mean selling period of 338 days, a guide below assessed value invites competing offers and targets a sale in the £545,000–£575,000 band.

Net proceeds & Capital Gains Tax

The subject is held as an investment property; Capital Gains Tax (CGT) is chargeable on disposal. Figures apply an agency fee of 2% plus VAT (2.4%) and an indicative CGT charge.

Achieved Price	Fee (2% + VAT)	Net of Fee	Indicative CGT	Net of Fee & CGT
£530,000	£12,720	£517,280	£46,627	£470,653
£560,000	£13,440	£546,560	£53,654	£492,906
£590,000	£14,160	£575,840	£60,682	£515,158

Indicative CGT: chargeable gain (sale price – £320,000 acquisition – selling fee – £3,000 annual exempt amount, 2025/26) at the 24% higher-rate residential rate. It excludes 2015 acquisition costs and the refurbishment spend, both allowable deductions that reduce the liability. Indicative only; not tax advice — a chartered accountant should be consulted.

Limitations

1. Recorded floor area (103 sqm, EPC) is compact for a four-bed/two-bath; a larger verified area raises the range. A measured survey or updated EPC is recommended.

2. The refurbishment specification has not been independently inspected; the 8–18% premium is modelled. Confirmation of "high" versus "very high" finish refines the upper bound.
3. Four-bed flats trade infrequently locally; the valuation rests on same-size, same-character flats (Tier A) with the condition-adjusted valuation.
4. Tier B (premium conversions, larger units) is excluded as a separate tier despite proximity and size.
5. Asking prices indicate vendor expectation and are not used in the assessed value.
